

GHOST CREEK RAILWAY CO.

DATE: 11/1/20	TELEGRAM	SENT BY: [Signature]	REC'D BY: [Signature]
----------------------	----------	-----------------------------	------------------------------

Welcome to the Saloon Stand-Off. A mysterious fortune teller has come to the small town of Ghost Creek and revealed a spine-chilling premonition. She foretells the imminent murder of Avery Rogers, a cattle baron and Ghost Creek's richest (and meanest) resident. There are six suspects and the clock is ticking. There's a tangled web of grudges, lies and secrets to unravel if Avery is to survive beyond sunset!

Set in the dusty, lawless lands of the Wild West, this immersive murder mystery will see you and your fellow dinner guests become both murder suspects and detectives for the evening. Will you be able to unravel the clues, pinpoint the motives and foil a murder plot before coffee is served?

EARL COLTON

As the owner of the Saloon Stand-Off, there's not a conversation to be had, a deal to be made or a fist to be raised that you don't find out about. You're the eyes and ears of the town. Blackmail is such an ugly word, though, so you prefer to say that you simply use information to balance the score. In reality, you're the biggest snitch this side of the Mississippi.

Suggested clothing and props: Behind the bar, you normally stick to a brown waistcoat, a white sleeved shirt, a black bowtie with matching arm bands and an apron splattered with liquor stains. You always have your trusty bar rag to mop up any sarsaparilla spills.

Character actions: You're a barman first and foremost, so you like to make sure that nobody's glass ever runs dry. After all, the more generously you pour, the more spontaneously the secrets come tumblin' out!

Character relationships: You're only nice to people when you need something from them. You sometimes get the feeling that the other characters don't respect you, but you don't pay too much mind to that.